Every day, fleet and logistics managers around the world look to us to help them preserve their cargo during transport. It's a trust we've earned by building the most reliable reefer units in the industry. By developing the most sophisticated monitor and tracking technologies available. And by providing the largest dealer support network anywhere on the planet. In other words, we do everything in our control to help bring you to market better and faster. For more information, visit your local Thermo King dealer or www.thermoking.com.

Bringing the world to market.

How often does a produce manager have to worry that the lettuce he just bought will arrive as fresh as the day it was picked?

Never. That's our job.
